Jimmy Cha, a resident of California, has applied for executive clemency.

On April 30, 1996, 19-year-old Mr. Cha was convicted in the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, of assault with a firearm. Mr. Cha and his crime partners argued with four victims in a restaurant parking lot, then threatened them with guns and punched two of them. Mr. Cha was sentenced to five years in prison.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby grant to Mr. Cha a full and unconditional pardon for the above case.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Teresa Paulinkonis

In 1989, Teresa Paulinkonis killed her stepfather. On June 29, 1992, the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda, sentenced Ms. Paulinkonis to 25 years to life for murder.

Ms. Paulinkonis was 24 years old at the time of the crime and is now 57. She has been incarcerated for 31 years.

While in prison, Ms. Paulinkonis has worked hard to better herself. She has maintained an exemplary disciplinary record while in prison. Ms. Paulinkonis has earned an associate degree, participated in extensive self-help programming, and obtained a business certification. Ms. Paulinkonis has received praise from four correctional staff for her positive attitude and her willingness to help others.

Ms. Paulinkonis committed a crime that took the life of the victim. Since then, Ms. Paulinkonis has dedicated herself to her rehabilitation. I have carefully considered and weighed the evidence of Ms. Paulinkonis's positive conduct in prison, the fact that she was a youthful offender, and her good prospects for successful community reentry. I have concluded that Ms. Paulinkonis is ready to be released on parole.

This act of clemency for Ms. Paulinkonis does not minimize or forgive her conduct or the harm it caused. It does recognize the work she has done since to transform herself.

THEREFORE, I, GAVIN NEWSOM, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes of the State of California, do hereby commute the sentence of Teresa Paulinkonis to release her on parole.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 12th day of March 2021.

GAVIN NEWSOM
Governor of California
